THE WILDCAT

The Wildcat Staff thanks Mrs. Spoor for her help in producing the Yearbook.

Foreword

These rooms and halls no more we'll know,
Forth to do battle with life we go.

"Our life is like some vast lake that is slowly filling with the stream of our years. As the waters creep surely upward the landmarks of the past are one by one submerged. But there shall always be memory to lift its head above the tide until the lake is overflowing."

Alexandre Bisson

In Miss Tweedie we early recognized a superior teacher, but we soon came to know her also as our close friend and counselor. As our English instructor and class advisor, she helped to guide us through our most difficult and decisive years. In an effort to express our gratitude, then, we dedicate this '59 edition of the "Wildcat" to Miss Eleanor Tweedie.

Dedi-

The time and effort Miss Steele put forth in helping us to produce our senior play is only an example of the work she has devoted to us during our high school years. As our class advisor and inspiring teacher, she has become an integral part of our school memories. In sincere appreciation, we dedicate our yearbook to Miss Ruth V. V. Steele.

Principal's Message

On behalf of the Board of Education, the faculty, and the student body, let me express sincere appreciation to the staff and the sponsor of the WILDCAT for this splendid 1959 edition. The WILDCAT, in recording the activities of the Schodack Schools, is representative of the fine quality of work that I firmly believe exists throughout our entire school system.

As I have said on other occasions, students recognize and appreciate a superior teacher and friend. That is why I am so happy that this WILDCAT is dedicated to Miss Ruth V. V. Steele and Miss Eleanor Tweedie.

SENIORS

JUST AS JASON AND HIS ARGONAUTS SET OUT IN SEARCH OF THE GOLDEN FLEECE,
THE SENIORS ARE SETTING OUT FROM SCHOOL FOR THEIR GOALS IN LIFE.

The Seniors' Diary

Busy day, busy day!...Every day in a Senior's life is busy...very busy....Up at dawn (well at least 6:30)...no time for breakfast...run, run to catch the bus...rush to first period class...and then on to the others...no time for gossip...busy even at lunch...eating, talking, doing forgotten homework...on to the afternoon classes...always busy...school's over but work isn't...Yearbook, Student Council, Bowling...Hill Topics, Archery, Apparatus...Oh, so busy!...home for a quick dinner...on to a basketball game...sell soda, sell candy, cheer the boys on to victory...home at last and in bed....The day is finally over!

Come on Donna, it's time to get up!

That's a high step so early in the morning, isn't it, Shirley?

It's not really that hard, Martha, try again!!

What's being said, Sharon?
You really seem interested!

As usual, Katie knows the answer!

Hurray! That was some play, wasn't it, Diane?

It's late, Toots.
Time to dream.

HISTORY, WILL, AND PROPHECY

THE ANCIENT ORACLES REPUTEDLY HAD THE POWER TO FORESEE THE FUTURE.

Class History

In September of 1947, a group of very excited youngsters gathered together at the Castleton Union School. We were all starting the search for something very precious that would last a lifetime. Mr. Davis became our chief guide in this long exploration; Miss Everleth was our leader in the first step, Operation - First Grade. We soon learned that a necessary tool for achieving our goal was the ability to interpret the signs we would find along the way. Miss Everleth quickly came to the rescue and taught us the alphabet and counting.

Jim Finkle joined us in the second grade, when Mrs. Gray and Mrs. Lyons were aiding and guiding us. During that year we visited the Capitol of New York State and toured the State Museum. Seeing those huge animals and Indian statues intensified our curiosity and determination to learn. In the first grade we had learned the letters of the alphabet. Now we learned that letters were put together in many different ways to form words. Numbers also became more significant for us as we learned how to add and subtract.

We were welcomed in 1949 by Miss Shill, our director in the third step in our venture. We had mastered printing, but our teacher introduced to us a more adult form of expressing ourselves on paper - writing. New arithmetic skills, multiplication and division, were added to our list of achievements.

In the fourth grade, we learned a great deal from two important new experiences. Mrs. Sinnigin, our new teacher, introduced us to the world of science. She not only demanded strict obedience, but also taught us the full meaning of the phrase, "Silence is Golden." We will always remember endlessly writing, "I will not talk in class."

When we were in the fifth grade, we learned the value of a library. We made good use of the one that Miss Reid, our leader in this step, had in her room. During that year, we learned how to sing together, and many of the girls joined Junior Chorus. Miss Reid also introduced us to the study of history. Thus we began to learn how to benefit from the experiences of others.

When we reached the sixth grade, we felt that we really were close to our goal. We formed a Safety Club, and from this Club, we learned the correct way to conduct a meeting. Mrs. Hartman, our devoted leader, plunged us into a battle with complicated numbers called fractions and decimals. We will always remember those long drilling sessions on fractions.

When we graduated from grade school, we felt that we had reached our goal. We were then amazed to find that learning is a continuous process: the more one learns, it seems, the more there is to learn. When we started this important new step, Operation - Seventh Grade, our group acquired many new members from Brookview, Schodack Landing, South Schodack, Muitzerskill, and other areas. All of the faculty worked to teach and guide us, but two people were assigned as our especial leaders, Miss Steele and Miss Tweedie.

When we entered the eighth grade, we were all accustomed to running from room to room for our classes. During that year, we took an educational trip to Albany and toured the Philip Schuyler Mansion. Most of us were in the intramurals, and many of the girls joined Glee Club.

In the ninth grade, we had to decide whether we wanted to take a college entrance course or a business course. That year Pete, Chip, Jim F., Jim G., and Garry were selected for the Junior Varsity Basketball team. Helen and Sue B. proudly joined the cheerleading squad to cheer them on. We had the privilege that year of moving into a beautiful new school. The halls of Maple Hill seemed so long then!

On we moved into the tenth phase of our venture - the Sophomore year. Our teachers spurred us on to greater efforts in such difficult subjects as plane geometry and world history. We were so proud of Jim Goold and Dick Bennett, who became probationary members of the National Honor Society. During that year, we ordered our class rings and put on our first play for the student Christmas Public.

In the fall of our next year, we received our rings. Nancy Bowling, from Vermont, and Marilyn Bongers, from Michigan, came to join our group. We felt that our goal was close, and we put forth more effort. Jim and Dick were accepted as regular members of the Honor Society along with Nancy Dufur and Irene Vybrial. Spring came, and the time for the Senior Prom arrived. We will never forget getting ready for that evening called, "Under the Oriental Moon." Our leaders, Miss Steele and Miss Tweedie, had been with us for a long time. However, at the end of the year, we were informed that Miss Tweedie was leaving to teach in California. We felt very sorry to see her leave, and we will always remember her wonderful classes and her patience with her students.

At last we had reached our Senior year. Our goal was but a few short months away. Mrs. Spoor came from Albany to help us in our last year. Together, she and Miss Steele guided us through the senior play, editing the yearbook, and those final difficult subjects.

The time has come. We will soon walk up the aisle and receive our diplomas. The goal will have been reached: The completion of our high school education.

Class Will

We, the class of 1959, being of sound mind and body, do hereby make our last will and testament. We hereby bequeath all of our rights, privileges, and property of every kind and nature, whether real, personal, or mixed and wherever situated, to the following:

To the janitors, we leave what's left of our desks, pencil stubs, gum wrappers, wads of gum, and a good supply of apple cores.

To the faculty, we leave the memory of our quietness and the prospect of a more co-operative senior class.

To Miss Steele, we leave the long hours of correcting theorems and the memory of our hectic play practice.

To Carole Bittner, we leave Carol Cook's quiet ways and if she finds the gift more than she can manage we would like her to share it with Karen Secor.

To Joy Earing, we leave Helen Lisosky's secret formula for platinum blonde hair.

To Roberta Culver, we leave Martha Bailey's hatred of all boys. May you have as much fun!

To Mary O'Brien, we leave Kathleen Meany's faithfulness to go steady with one??? boy.

To John Prevost and Bob Taylor, we leave Larry Morton's ability to do bookkeeping.

To Judy Stinger, we leave a couple pounds of Suzanne Brunner's extra weight. Good luck dieting!

To Judy Marquette, we leave Donna Groves' favorite hangout, Garafalo's! May you enjoy it as much!

To Susan Bowling, we leave Diane Chiovini's many debts and her high bowling scores. Think you can get over 90, Sue?

To Marilyn Salisbury, we leave Marion Sprackland's library fines. You didn't want your report card anyway, did you, Marilyn?

To Whitey Anderson, we leave all of Judy Hamm's stacks of history notes plus her love of that subject.

To Laurel Bailey, we leave Nancy Dufur's earnest pleadings with the Senior Class on behalf of the Student Council and to Mary Ellen Weijola, we leave Nancy's passion for doing flying somersaults over three people.

To Bill Kasky, we leave Chip Collins' speed and his soft position on the team. Don't snore too loudly, Bill! And to Debby Lyons, we leave Chip's failing knowledge of Physics.

To Carolyn Pfeffer, we leave Nancy Bowling's ability to talk her way out of all the trouble she talks herself into.

To Linda Mutterer, we leave Sharon Ulmer's seat and her lady-like conduct on the basketball buses, and to Gloria Robinson, we leave Sharon's ability to beg food from other members of the Home Economics Classes.

To Florence Masse, we leave Marilyn Bongers' ability to sew a straight seam and to Linda Edwards, we leave Marilyn's ability to draw Michelangelo's egg.

To Pete Goold, we leave Jim Goold's ability to play basketball. It must run in the family, Pete!

To Ed Secovnie, we leave Shirley Hunt's freedom of Schodack Landing and to Pat Wylie, we leave Shirley's fascination of watching typewriter keys.

To Kathy, Karol, and Kenny Wilcox, we leave Barbara Smith's lost poundage on the condition that they distribute it evenly amongst themselves.

To Susanne Peckham, we leave Irene Vybiral's editorship on Hill Topics and to Spin Keller, we leave Irene's quiet??? innocent??? ways.

To Ralph Mann, we leave Jim Finkle's seat on the team bus and to Bob Adjutant, we leave Jim's ability to play a terrific game of volleyball.

To Jim Van Buren, we leave Dick Bennett's ability to kill flies with a rubber band. It's a lot cheaper than using a .22, Jim; and to John Koryn, we leave Dick's blighted sense of humor.

To Jeff Nusbaum, we leave Bev Groves' ability to be absent-minded, especially with books.

To Richard Dietz and Jim McCormick, we leave Glenn Camingo's parking tickets.

To De Witt Huestis, we leave Russell Adams' ability to laugh at the most inopportune moments; and to Tom Galligan, we leave Russell's well-used books on astronomy.

To Bob Goodall, we leave Garry Van Ort's slim figure.

To Kenyon Van Kampen, we leave Pete Rogers' personal charm and his ability to answer any questions even when he isn't listening.

To Carol Kleinhans, we leave Barbara Kolonkowski's long blonde hair with the understanding she brush it at least 100 strokes every night, and to Carolyn Jones,

Class Prophecy

One day we climbed upon our flying horse to see what had become of the members of the Class of 1959.

Our tour started in Castleton. We first saw Beverly and Donna Groves, the inseparable twins, at their Rip Van Winkle Bowling Alley. Hear that rumble? It's probably another strike!

Since Chippy Collins had heard so much about the milkmaids, he moved his dairy to Switzerland. He is now managing the Limited Chip Collins Cheese Factory.

We heard a lot of children's voices. Is that a nursery? No, it's Mrs. Pomykai, the former Suzanne Brunner, walking her brood of twelve tow headed children. Sue and Charlie are true believers of the saying, "It's cheaper by the dozen."

There's Madison Square Garden. Marilyn Bongers has just won the World's Title in Women's Wrestling. Looks like Marilyn's sprees with her dad's steering wheel proved to be a muscle builder.

Faye Relyea has just finished her studies at the New England Conservatory of Music. You may hear Faye every Monday evening at 9:30 over NBC directing the famous American Bandstand.

In John Hopkins we found that a patient is alive partly because of the doctor, but most of the credit is due to Nancy Dufur, the patient's private nurse.

At last, a new bleach has come into use. Helen Lisosky's Beauty Salon, which is in Times Square, has been working for years to invent a no-streak, no-blotch, permanent bleach. It is now the fad in high schools all over America.

Larry Ayer has made a new discovery and claims it was worth the hard work. It is credited to his own brains and not paying attention in Chemistry Class. This discovery takes the place of the safety pin.

At Carnegie Hall, we saw Jim Goold, the piano-playing idol of females everywhere. His coppery hair has plunged Liberace's flashing toothpaste smile into oblivion.

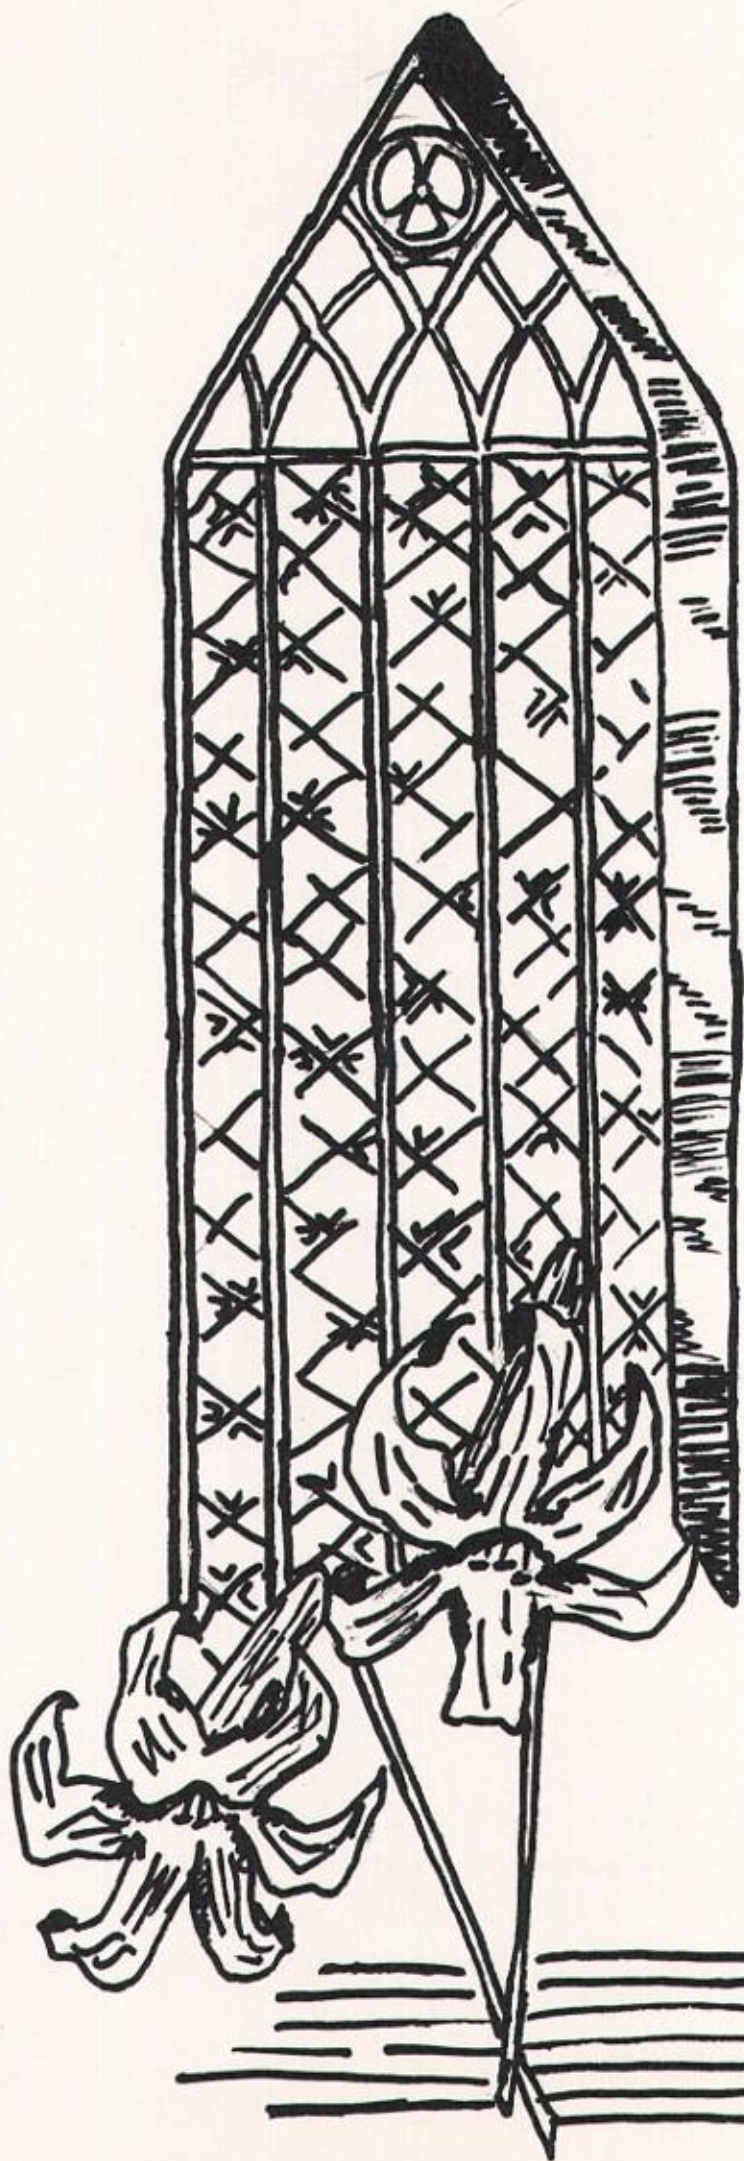

Castleton's version of Rhonda Fleming, formerly known as Kathleen Meany, has completed a new cinemascope pictured entitled, "The Redhead from South Schodack."

Jim Finkle is a millionaire motion-picture producer in Hollywood. He received his start by winning a contest entitled, "What Marilyn Monroe Has That I Have Not."

As we flew over Hawaii, it was necessary to stop for lunch. Immediately after eating, we joined a large noisy crowd. While pushing our way to the center, we found Glenn Camingo. He is growing flowers and selling them to the hula girls. In the middle of the crowd, we discovered little Carol Cook dancing the hula with the best of them.

Upon landing in Alaska, we heard much talk about Miss Chiovini of Castleton. We looked her up and found Diane, our class athlete, had become a gym teacher. She went to Alaska because she heard there are more men than women there.

Will, Con't.

we leave Barbara's seat in Secretarial Practice.

To Doug Van Auken and Gerry Keyer, we leave two spinners apiece from Larry Ayer's car.

To Eddie Zeigler, we leave Bruce Kibben's nickname "Duck."

To Dorothy Sweet, we leave Faye Relyea's ability to play Chopsticks with two fingers.

To Betty Jarmann, we leave Sue Jarmann's sparkling eyes and mischievous smile and to Alfred Jarmann we leave Sue's ability not to do homework and still get high marks.

To Tony Lisosky, we leave Richie Sukup's ability to sleep during class and not be disturbed by anything, including teachers.

Prophecy Con't.

A strange sight greeted our eyes in Russia. Richie Sukup is touring the countryside selling the world's fastest hot rod: A gas pedal and a steering wheel.

Irene Vybiral and Judy Hamm have opened a home for homeless men in Australia. They have quite a business.

Russell Adams is now an official ham-operator, communicating with earth from the planet Mars.

Everything was in a flutter when we arrived at China. It seems that Pete Rogers scored 100 points in a basketball game last night. He is playing with the Boston Globe Trotters. He will open a "School of Chopsticks" strictly for girls when he gets back home.

Susan Jarman is teaching Home Economics to the cannibals in Africa. They say she makes a very tasty dish.

While flying over the Sahara Desert, we noticed a lonely little building in the middle of nowhere. Deciding to find out what it was, we landed our flying horse. There were Barbara Smith and her Arab husband making a very profitable business of operating a refueling station for camels.

In Cairo, Egypt, we saw Martha Bailey opening up the tomb of one of the Pharaohs. Is a pile of bones worth all that effort, Martha? Since Martha graduated from school, she has traveled all over the world in search of the missing link.

Say, that looks like Dick Bennett in there, too. No! He wouldn't do that; we always thought Dick had a mind of his own. He's actually copying cartoons from the hieroglyphics on the tomb wall. Now we know why he's made such a fortune as a cartoonist in New York City.

When we arrived in Rome, we found Nancy Bowling modeling a bathing suit. She also is a cheerleader at the Roman Chariot Races.

As we flew over England, we noticed a crowd of people. We flew a bit lower and saw Garry Van Ort being crowned King of England. We always knew Garry would get big someday.

Shirley Hunt is living in the dark interior of Brazil. She is raising a rare collection of man-eating moths since her last lovers quarrel.

Down in Peru we came upon Larry Morton trying to find a way to make gold. So far he has come up against one great obstacle: It just ain't possible.

On the way home, we found Barbara Kolonkowski running a little ranch in the mid-west. She is raising white mice for a fur coat.

None of the senior girls in the class of '59 ever smoked (in public) but now Flaming Frenchie, better known as Sharon Ulmer, is the head cigarette girl of the Stork Club in New York.

Remember that old truck Marion Sprackland used to run around in? Well, she has finally put it in a museum and now has the biggest fleet of trucks in the United States.

Our flying horse would not let us contact Bruce Kibben, because he is now raising a select stableful of unicorns.

Our journey was successfully completed. It was a good thing, because our horse had run out of power.
